DID SOMEONE SAY holidays?

It's October and you might feel like you're planning ahead if you've already started thinking about a Halloween costume. We love a good costume, but here at Mint we are already thinking out to the end of the year—candy canes, Christmas trees, and tons of custom beanies—and with good reason.

This year has thrown some interesting challenges at our industry and we have to do some creative thinking and planning in order to get you the custom gear you want in time for this holiday season.

SHORTAGES, SHIPPING, AND SUPPLIERS

oh my!

The screen printing and embroidery industry as a whole is experiencing rampant shortages and delays in our supply chain. Garment suppliers are struggling to provide blank apparel and lots of items are backordered or unavailable. Even ink is difficult to source. We are doing everything we can to minimize how this effects you.

We value your business and know it is important to you to get your custom gear in a timely manner! Nothing is more important to us than getting your orders to you on time and that is why we want to let you know that NOW is time to start thinking about the end-of-year holiday season.

In order to deliver goods on time for the December holidays we have come up with these timelines to guide your holiday ordering:

- Place your order by November 15th or before! Don't leave things until last minute! Start planning your holiday order now. Any orders placed after November 15th can not be guaranteed in time for Dec 24th.
- When choosing items to customize, we will confirm blank apparel stock to be sure we can get your items. Once we confirm you will need to place the order ASAP so we can immediately order your blank items. With the current stock shortages, everyone is scrambling and we have seen items sell out within a day after we confirm they are in stock.

We just want to emphasize that we are working at the same speed we always have ... longer turn around times reflect the time it is currently taking to get blank stock into the shop.

Thank you for understanding!
